My latest triumph is code that extracts the query strings from search engine referers so that the same query string from different search engines will be counted as the same sort of referer. Just one of the many bizarre, bizarre photographs on that site. I have some books I bought at Half Price Books more

How right she was; it's worse in that respect than Cryptonomicon and I'm going through it a lot faster than I did Cryptonomicon. Diablo II's randomly generated magic items are like nothing in Nethack but similar to the randomly generated artifacts in Angband. Warren imparted this bit of medical wisdom:

It's like burning down your restaurant for the insurance money using a match. The point here is not to carp on particular problems, but to discuss this sort of inconsistency in general. Who manufactures the servers or other electronics?
