Veronica Horwell is moved by Jenna Bailey's collection of confidences from ordinary women, Can My Mother Help Me?.

This book's title was originally a plea from a lonely young mother in the s, which sparked a flood of sympathetic responses, resulting in a private women's.

This is a wonderful, comforting read, telling the story of a group of women, all mothers, who started a support network in the s to help each other through the.

Jenna is the author of the best-selling Can Any Mother Help Me? (Faber) which has been translated into Dutch and made into a theatrical production that toured .
